

LINE CREEK NATURE AREA

Line Creek Nature Area is a 67 acre public preserve on Hwy 54 which borders Line Creek on the Coweta/Fayette County line.

From the parking lot there's easy access to a picnic area next to a fishing pond with a gazebo and pier. The Council Circle is great for birthday parties and Scout meetings. (No fires are allowed.) Just beyond the pond two trails offer a quick escape to nature.

To the right, the easy Bridge Trail leads you through a peaceful hardwood forest and then along the creek.

The Creek Trail to the left requires more sure footing, taking you down a slope and across granite outcroppings with unique xeric vegetation. Be careful—the rock can be slippery! The reward is a scenic perch beside rushing Line Creek. Enjoy the native azaleas blooming in the spring. Adventurous hikers can follow the narrow trail south which connects to a cart path and tot lot near Planterra Ridge. You will see the construction for Fayette County's new reservoir Lake McIntosh. Once it's finished, the trail will be re-routed.

Please help keep the Nature Area an enjoyable experience for all visitors:

- Open dawn to dusk
- Stay on the marked paths
- Leave only footprints, take only photos
- Please leash & pick up after your dog!

NO TRESPASSING! Please do not cross Line Creek. The Coweta side is private property.

SOUTHERN CONSERVATION TRUST

Southern Conservation Trust (the Trust) is a nonprofit conservation organization founded in 1993 in Fayette County. The Trust's Mission: to preserve, manage and enhance natural areas for public benefit in the Southern Crescent of Metro Atlanta.

The Trust manages two City-owned preserves: Line Creek and the Flat Creek Nature Area next to the PTC Amphitheater. The Sams Lake Bird Sanctuary, on Old Senoia Rd south of Fayetteville, opened to the public in 2008. And, as a land trust, the Trust works with landowners who wish to permanently preserve their land from development by donating their property or placing a conservation easement on it, which can generate significant tax benefits.

We hope you'll join the Trust and help protect natural areas in your own community. You will receive a newsletter, Invitations to special member events, and free admission to our nature programs.

Volunteers help monitor and maintain the Nature Areas, and assist in event planning and in the Trust office.

For more information about joining or volunteering, please contact us today!
